All the undergraduate and graduate students, who will graduate by March 2021 and wish to find employment, are requested to attend this orientation.

In the guidance, we are going to introduce the policy on job hunting in 2020, and explain the preparation for job hunting and “大学推薦(university recommendation)”. Please listen to the guidance, and if you have any questions, please feel free to ask us.

Job hunting process of PhD students is “自由応募” and is done individually often with the help of their supervisors. They are also recommended to attend it in order to understand the standard process of job hunting in the departments.

[Those who should attend]

1. Undergraduate students, finishing in 2020 AY, in the Dept. of Information and Communication Engineering (ICE), and Dept. of Electrical and Electronic Engineering (EE).

2. Master course graduate students, finishing in 2020 AY, in the Dept. of Electrical Eng. and Information Syst.(EE), Grad. School of Eng., and Dept. of Inf. and Comm. Eng. (ICE), Grad. School of Inf. Sci. and Tech., and those who are supervised by the professors affiliated with EE and ICE in the departments below, and want to obtain jobs under the employment process of the EE departments:
   Dept. of Bioengineering, Grad. School of Engineering,
   Dept. of Advanced Energy, Grad. School of Frontier Sciences,
   Dept. of Complexity Sci. and Eng., Grad. School of Frontier Sciences,
   Dept. of Creative Informatics, Grad. School of Inf. Sci. and Tech.
   Grad. School of Interdisciplinary Information Studies.

Should you have any question, please contact Prof. K. Aizawa or Ms. Y. Mochizuki (Rm. 410, Engineering Bldg. II), department job search advisers, at ext. 26721, 26694 (fax), or shushoku@ee.t.u-tokyo.ac.jp. Confidential inquiries should be made via phone or fax.